In the second "Wally" hit two batters and allowed five hits to give Roxbury a 7-0 lead. With two out in Bethel's half of the second inning Quimby got on base when Thomas tumbled a grounder, went to second on an error by the first baseman. Robertson then scored him with a single. Littlehale singled and Morgan struck out to end the inning. Bethel scored three more runs in the third with four hits. One hit, three errors, and a wild pitch scored two more runs in the fourth. Maguire opened the seventh with a single, took second on Keddy's single. Quimby laid down a bunt to put "Mac" on third and Keddy on second. Robertson then scored "Mac" on a squeeze play to tie the score. Nearly 50 strategically located roadside stands will this year display the Approved Roadside Market signs, allocated by the Maine Department of Agriculture, it is stated by market chief, C. M. White.

To qualify the marketer must produce or purchase at least 80% of his merchandise from within an area of 25 miles from the stand.

GROVER HILL FARM HOME TAKEN BY LIGHTNING

The house and barn of Alfred Peaslee on Grover Hill were burned to the ground last Saturday afternoon. A bolt of lightning apparently traveled the length of the buildings. When the Bethel fire department was called there was no hope of saving the place but it was hoped to extinguish the blaze in a large pile of fitted wood in the yard. Water was carried from a nearby brook to the booster tank on the pump, but the wood was lost. The loss has been estimated at $1,000.

IN THE MUNICIPAL COURTS

Hoyt Gunther of Bethel was arraigned in the Norway Municipal Court Monday morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving. A fine of $100 and costs of $19.50 were paid. The arrest was made on the Songo Pond road by Deputy Sheriff Frank A. Hunt and State Officer John K. Maguire Saturday.

Also arrested by Officer Maguire and appearing in Norway Court were Irving G. Gurney of Norway, Perley Childs and Horace Upton of Milton. Gurney, pleading guilty to the charge of operating an improperly registered vehicle, was fined $10. Childs and Upton, arrested at the Beacon Light pavilion in Bethel pleaded guilty to intoxication. Childs' case was continued for sentence and Upton paid costs of court.

Charged in the Rumford Municipal Court Wednesday with speeding in Gilead, Harry B. Dunn of Rumford pleaded not guilty and the case was not pressed on payment of $10 costs. Officer John Maguire was complainant.

LOCAL SALVATION ARMY DRIVE TO OPEN SATURDAY

The Annual Drive of the Salvation Army in Bethel and District will be launched on July 15. Carl L. Brown has accepted the chairmanship and Fred B. Merrill will again be treasurer. Included in the Bethel Campaign are Bryant Pond, Locke Mills, Hanover, Andover, Rumford Point, Gilead, West Bethel, East Bethel, Newry, East Andover, South Andover, Albany, Middle Intervale, Mason and Greenwood. The following general committee will support the Drive this year: Harold Chamberlin, Philip Chapman, Mrs. D. T. Durell, Mrs. Elizabeth Garey, Dr. S. S. Greenleaf, H. B. Larrabee, H. C. Rowe, H. Kirke Stowell and H. D. Thurston. The quota has been set for the sum of $600, and the letter appeal will be mailed on Saturday, July 15, to all prospective givers.

Major Seddon, the Public Relations Secretary for all of New England, and who has direct charge of Maine, states: "A portion of the money raised will be left in Bethel and District to be disbursed by a welfare committee for any worthy charity which meets the approval of the responsible group who have charge of this welfare fund." He also says that these emergency funds which have been set up in hundreds of communities throughout New England have proven to be one of the finest gestures on the part of the Salvation Army and have proven to be most valuable in times of emergency.

The Salvation Army is not alone concerned about the improvement of the poor in large cities but vital interests in the needs of small towns and communities in which circumstances arise and help can be given.

Iron Will Float

It is usually said that iron will not float, but it will. A ball of iron placed in a pan of liquid mercury will float and even support other weight on top of it. Stones and other heavy objects will also float in mercury. The reason is that mercury has a specific gravity of 13.59, while that of iron is 7.84. Iron will not float in water because the specific gravity of water is 1, so that an equal volume of iron is 7.84 times as heavy as water.

Flows From East to West

A feature of the Columbia river that looms large in history but has been overlooked in later years is that it is the only great waterway of the nation that flows from east to west. It courses southward through the state of Washington, then swings sharply to the left and flows westward for more than 300 miles to the ocean. In 1803, when Thomas Jefferson sent Lewis and Clark to claim the great river for the United States, he knew of it mainly as the stream that flowed east and west. All the other important American rivers—the Mississippi, the Hudson, the Colorado, the Tennessee—flow principally north and south.

Hot Baths in Jamaica

At Bath, in the parish of St. Thomas in Jamaica, the waters of the spring are the hottest in the island, with a temperature at the fountain head of 126 to 128 degrees Fahrenheit. These waters are sulphuric and are beneficial in gout, rheumatism, skin affections and fevers. They lose about nine degrees of heat in transit to the baths themselves.

DAILY DISTRIBUTION OF ACCIDENTS

HOURLY DISTRIBUTION OF ACCIDENTS

On the highways, Sunday is the most dangerous day of the week and the hours from 6 until midnight are the most perilous hours of each day. These conclusions are drawn from an analysis of America's highway accident record for 1938, published in "Lest We Forget," the ninth annual booklet issued in the interests of street and highway safety by the Travelers Insurance Company.

Next to Sunday, Saturday is the most hazardous day of the week to venture out on the highways. Fewest accidents happen on Tuesday and Wednesday. An unexplainable fact revealed by the figures is that although there are more persons killed on Sundays, there are more injuries on Saturdays.

More persons are killed in traffic accidents between the hours of seven and eight o'clock in the evening than at any other hour of the day. The high point for injuries is between four and six o'clock in the afternoon, indicating that dusk, darkness and fatigue are strong contributing factors in bringing the accident curve to its peak toward the close of the day.

THURSDAY, JULY 13, 1939

40 YEARS AGO In the NEWS

July 12, 1899.

Those interested in Gould's Academy will doubtless be pleased to learn that Mr. Hanscom has decided to return for another year. We are also pleased to learn that at the Bates Commencement, the last of June, the degree of A. M. was conferred upon him by the president and trustees of Bates College.

During a heavy electrical storm last Thursday afternoon lightning entered the News composing room behind the cylinder press and followed the wall of the room along to the window where it gave things a general shaking up. The plastering was thrown over the press and type; type in boxes upon shelves was melted and soldered together in various shapes, thus affording souvenirs for many who quickly rushed to the scene. The window cases were considerably splintered and the upper half of the window was completely demolished. There were three people working in the office at the time, Mrs. C. H. Harvey, F. A. Leach, and E. C. Bowler, none of whom were injured. The butter factory also got a shaking up the same afternoon. Some glass was broken although no further trace could be found.

"THEY TELL ME"

I wonder why they let all the pretty yellow stripes all fade out up at the head of Main Street. A couple years ago it looked pretty business-like the way the marks slanted in toward the sidewalk and a lot of people thought that they might paint the street further down where it seemed to need it a lot more. Of course it did plug upper Main Street pretty much when cars on both sides toed in to the curb, but I don't see why it can't be like that on one side and let them slide up to the side of the street on the other. That way there would be about twice as much room Saturday nights for the cars to go up and down street, and they surely need the extra space. Take it now when two or three of these folks that I might name leave their cars double parked in front of the postoffice all at once you might as well go round some other way. And down street most of the time they park good enough without any paint in the street, but just the same it would help a stranger sometimes if it was marked out a bit and the natives and big truck-drivers of course can do as they see fit. Bethel probably needs a good many things more than this, but some of 'em would cost a lot more.

Uncle Hiram.
Mr. and Mrs. Philip Chadbourne and family moved to East Waterford Friday.

DON'T LET IT SPREAD!

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

PICTURING OUTINGS

On an outing, watch for amusing incidents, informal moments. Avoid stiff, posed shots.

SUMMER picnics and outings are fun—and the fun can last, if you bring back a collection of snapshots that really tells the story of the day's activities.

Getting such snapshots isn't difficult when you keep your eyes open for incidents and details that truly explain the "what, where, and how" of the picnic.

Don't bother with stiff, posed group snapshots. Make "story" pictures. Get a shot of someone coming down the steps with a heavy picnic hamper... putting it in the car... a picture through the windshield showing the picnic grove as you arrive. Snap a series of shots which show the spreading of the cloth... the setting out of pickles, cake, and sandwiches... cutting the cake... "close-ups" of individuals munching away... sports or games after lunch... the girl friend getting her skirt caught on a barbed-wire fence. If the picnic lasts into the evening, take a time exposure of the group gathered around the campfire, singing or telling stories. They'll have to hold still for this one, and the camera must be firmly supported on a handy post or table—but it's a worth-while picture.

When you make a series of "story-telling" snapshots along this line, you have something that gives far more satisfaction than a few scattered, random snapshots. And it's no trouble. Most of the pictures you can capture when your subjects are "off-guard"—not even aware a picture is being taken. Other pictures may require a little posing, but as long as you make the picture show some incident, something going on, it won't have that stiff, "posed" look.

Try making a series of related, "story-telling" snapshots on your next picnic or holiday outing. You'll quickly decide that's the way all your pictures will be taken on such occasions in the future.

HORTON AT DEERTREES

Edward Everett Horton, famous film star, will appear next week in the comedy hit, "Springtime for Henry," at the Deertrees Theatre, Harrison, now under the direction of Bela Blau, New York producer.

After a number of years in Hollywood, Mr. Horton has deserted the film world, temporarily at least, to appear once again in the legitimate theatre. His engagement in Maine is of particular interest, because for several years he was a member of the stock company at the old Jefferson Theatre in Portland.

One of the funniest men on the screen, Mr. Horton was well known on the stage long before the advent of talking pictures. Actors who worked with him remember him as a player of great skill who was at home in any kind of a part. In pictures he has become a comedian who has made millions laugh all over the country.

"Springtime for Henry," a constantly hilarious comedy by Benn W. Levy, the English dramatist, offers Mr. Horton a role well-suited to his comic talents. He plays the part of Henry Dewlip of Dewlip Motors, Ltd., an exceedingly droll figure who is reformed by his secretary. Produced on Broadway several seasons back, "Springtime for Henry" enjoyed great popularity and had a long run.

Heading the supporting cast is Gordon Richards, a prominent comedian, Lydia Perera and Elda Garbe, both unusually attractive young women, and Enid Markey, formerly a star in silent pictures, now a successful Broadway comedienne.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

COST: 3 CENTS

SOME of the critics of advertising—and in this world there are those who criticize every good thing—level their lances at what they think is a weak spot: its cost.

They read of the million-dollar advertising appropriations, they brood on the cost of a full page of advertising in a metropolitan newspaper or a national magazine—and then they loose their sharpest barbs against the waste which they say is involved in this costly process.

Their only trouble is that they judge without having all the facts. For the truth is that advertising is the least expensive cost of doing business. Everything else costs a good deal more in proportion than the advertising.

The wise and capable business man bases the amount of money he spends for advertising upon the volume of business he either is doing or expects to do. This money set aside to advertise is called the appropriation.

It seldom runs, take the country over, more than 3 per cent, which means that for every dollar of sales made the advertising cost will be just three pennies. That is all three pennies.

The large advertising appropriations come when a business, through the help of intelligent advertising, becomes so great that its annual volume runs into many millions of dollars a year. But whether an advertiser spends $10,000 a year or $10,000,000, his percentage remains the same—an average of 3 per cent.

The amount of money spent in advertising well-known products is so small as to be ridiculous, when you really know the facts.

Take oranges. How much do you suppose the growers spend to advertise their product? A third of a cent per dozen is all.

A national cracker baker reveals that he sets aside only one-tenth of a cent to advertise a package of crackers, while the manufacturer of a soft drink spends 1,576/100,000 of a cent in advertising a five-cent glass of his product.

The manufacturer of a medium-priced automobile spends less than 3 per cent for advertising—he spends only $12 in making a $1,000 sale.

And even this small amount, this three cents on the dollar, isn't an expense, an added premium on the business. By spending three cents out of every dollar for advertising, the manufacturer or merchant can sell for less and give you more for your money.

Farmers Find Electric Range Is Economical, Safe and Cool

Electric Cooking—The ideal solution to the "hot kitchen" problem.

By IRA MILLER

Rural Electrification Bureau

ALTHOUGH approximately one of every four farms in this country has high-line service, at present only about one in 30 has an electric range. Why is it that only one farm wife of each seven who enjoy the benefits of electricity also knows the comfort and conveniences of "flameless cooking"?

Several reasons can be suggested, among them: Lack of a full knowledge and understanding of the many advantages of electric cooking; question, either of the initial or operating cost, or of the safety of such ranges; and the fact that, in many farm homes, the old-fashioned stove is used for heating as well as cooking.

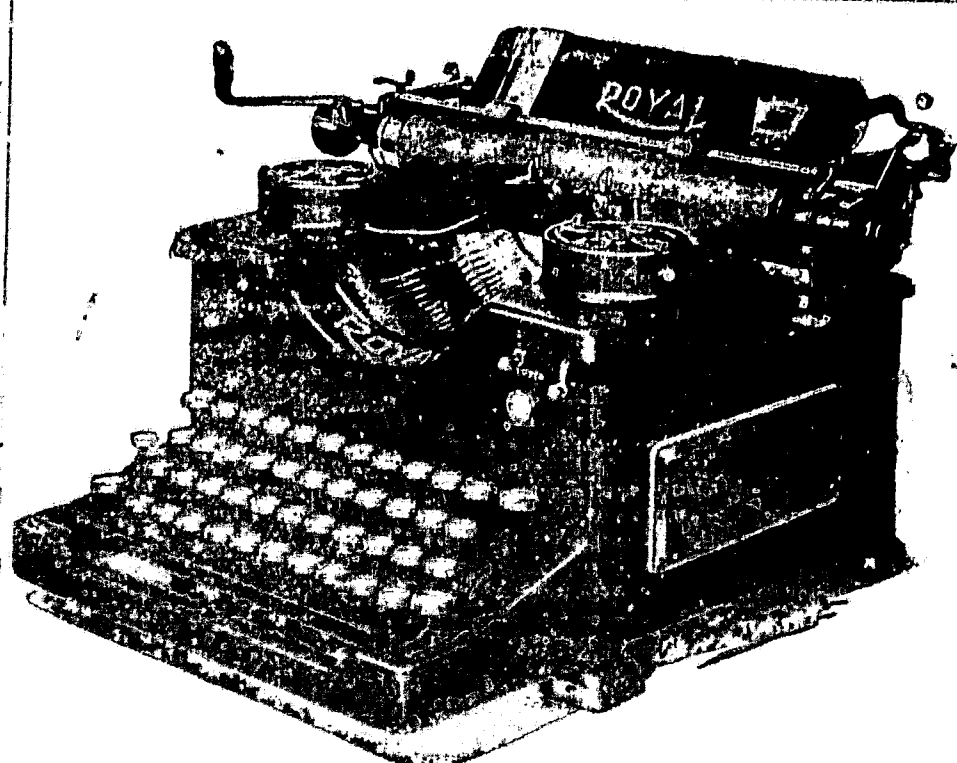

However, with the spread of information on the subject, the use of electric ranges is rapidly growing on farms having high-line power because of its many definite points of superiority which include simplicity, constant temperature, speed, safety, cleanliness, coolness and economy. This is only natural because farm wives spend approximately one-third of their waking hours in the kitchen and it should be made as pleasant and easy a place to work in as possible.

In purchasing an electric range, the first consideration should be to select one manufactured and sold by firms which are known to be reliable for, upon the reliability of the maker and dealer depend not only the true value of the product and any guarantee it may carry but also the quality and speed of service should that become necessary. The range also should bear the approval of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, as that indicates it has met certain safety requirements.

The first cost of a good electric range will vary from about $100 to $250, depending upon its size, type and various special features such as additional ovens, deep well cooker, storage compartments, lights, time clocks and other extras. However, the cost of one sufficiently large and complete for the average family will be only a little more than $100—about the same as a range of comparable quality using any of the more common fuels.

The cost of operation of an electric range naturally depends on the amount and type of cooking done, the power rate, and experience in using it most economically. In general, however, it requires but one kw-hr. per person per day for the preparation of all food for an average family. At the three-cent rate, the cost thus is but one cent per person per meal—little if any more expensive than other fuels which lack the many advantages of electricity.

Great sympathy is expressed for Alfred J. Peaslee who lost his home by fire last Saturday, caused by lightning. Mr. Peaslee's loss seems doubly sad since there was no insurance and the fact several years ago he lost his left hand by accident. Although this a great handicap to an elderly man, he has carried on bravely, working far beyond his strength. At present he is with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Emery at North Bethel, who so kindly cared for him during a long severe illness last year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hardie from Brookville, Mass., have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Whitman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Barnard and Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Tyler went to Mechanic Falls last Wednesday and called to see Mrs. M. A. Jordan, who is recovering from a severe illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Meserve and daughter Joan from Auburn were week-end guests at Maurice Tyler's.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett, West Bethel, were recent evening guests at Mr. and Mrs. Maurice F. Tyler's.

Ray Hanscom of Errol, N. H., was a Sunday visitor at his brother's Hartley Hanscom.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bushley of Rumford spent a few days in Grafton with relatives last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wight are keeping house in one of "Wight's Brook" Camps.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bennett of Boston, Mass. were calling on their folks here last week.

Mrs. J. L. Ferren of Worcester, Mass., who has been visiting at L. E. Wight's will spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ferren at No. Rumford this week.

Arnold Eames and family of Portland were in town recently. Elaine Vail, Fred Auger and Amy Bennett are attending camp at Upton this week.

Under the direction of Miss Carrie Wight, the play "Patsy" was presented at the Church by six young ladies of Newry, Wednesday night, with a good attendance. Thursday night they went to Upton where they presented the same play, to a good crowd. The pro-

Room Bureaus Set Up For New York Fair

NEW YORK (Special)—Two agencies have been set up in New York City to insure World's Fair visitors' getting living accommodations at a most reasonable price.

One is the Mayor's Official World's Fair Housing Bureau, Inc., with headquarters in the Chanin Building, 122 East 42d Street, set up by Mayor LaGuardia to locate rooms for visitors in private homes and dwellings.

The other is the Hotel Room Information Bureau of the Hotel Association of New York City, representing 180 hotels with a total capacity of 80,000 rooms. The bureau is at association headquarters, 221 West 57th Street.

Both agencies function without any charge to the visitor in finding him clean and comfortable accommodations at a price within his means. Rooms in private dwellings range in price from $1 per night per person upward, with the average per person $1.50.

Every Western Union and Postal Telegraph office is equipped to handle requests for rooms in conjunction with the Housing Bureau's operation. Every policeman in New York City is familiar with the plan and is equipped to give visitors first hand information on methods of obtaining registered and sponsored rooms.

On making the application for a room the visitor pays a deposit of 50 cents per night per person for which he receives a receipt. The receipt may be presented to the landlord in lieu of cash as part payment for the room.

Visitors, as well as people of the community, are always welcome.
